NESTOS MAKES AN APPEAL TO STATE VOTERS

Governor Makes Formal Statement Summarizing the Present Political Issues

TO KEEP CONFIDENCE

Says Officials Must Be Chosen In Which the People Have Confidence

Governor R. A. Nestos today issued an appeal to the voters of North Dakota, urging them to aid in rehabilitating the credit of the state by electing officials who command the confidence and respect of the people of other states as well as of North Dakota. The Governor's statement follows:

"To the Voters of North Dakota: "After having visited almost every county in the state I am certain that the people are quite well satisfied with the way that public business has been handled during the past year. The people do not want the public business conducted behind a veil of secrecy again. They do not want any more public funds misused or any further mismanagement of public business. Neither do the people want the credit of either the state or its people injured again.

In the view of this desire on the part of the people, there are two things which I believe that it is my duty to call to the attention of the voters now that the campaign is drawing to a close; that the policies of the present administration can not be successfully carried out with only half of the officers filled by people who are in accord with these policies, or without a legislature in which a majority is in accord with those policies. I therefore want to urge upon those voters of the state who believe that we have served them faithfully and well in so far as possible with a part of our state officials still committed to the policies of the old administration, that if they want to see those policies fully applied to every department of our state government during the coming two years, they must not only vote for me for governor, but for all of the other candidates on what is known as the O'Connor-Nestos ticket, including the members of the legislature who are committed to the policy of open books, honesty, economy and efficiency in public business. No governmental policy can be given a fair trial with the governor for it and the legislature against it.

Reputation Counts
"The ability of a state to borrow money or secure credit is based on the reputation it bears. And a state is judged by the class of men it elects to public office. If North Dakota should elect to the United States Senate a man who had been recalled because of his misuse of public funds and abuse of public confidence; a man who advocates revolution if his factions does not prevail at the polls; a man who consorts with the radicals of the state (Continued on Page Three)

WEATHER OF MANY KINDS IS REPORTED

Warm on Yukon While Wyoming Ranches Are Buried in Snow

RAINS IN KANSAS

Long Drought Broken There Followed by Mid-Summer Heat

(By the Associated Press)
Chicago, Oct. 31.—Unseasonable weather of several varieties, generally favored by the human race, continued today in many sections of the United States and possessions.

Chicago topographical features have enjoyed the balmy breezes and sunshine of a glorious Indian summer, which lingers longer than usual.

Out in Wyoming the ranchers are digging themselves out of the snow—and liking it. They say it helps the grass on the unsunked range.

Up on the Yukon, where wild winter generally has a strong grasp by this time, the river is open. All the tributaries are free from ice and the slush on the main stream makes no impediment for boats. It is the latest season on record in the north country and droves in the Yukon are expected to work until Christmas.

A terrific storm broke off the Alaska coast yesterday and crippled a freight steamer.

General rains fell in Kansas, breaking a long drought which had been accompanied by mid-summer heat, while it was beginning to show effects of the dry spell.

Up in North Dakota the farmers were so thankful for favorable weather and bounteous crops they blessed providence in prayer.

BANDITS GET $3,500 LOOT

D., between 2 and 3 o'clock this morning, dynamited the safe door and escaped with about $3,500 in silver.

Charley Hoenter, living near the bank, heard the noise and investigated. He was seized, blindfolded, gagged and bound with wire to be left in the bank while the robbers finished their work. No one saw or heard the yeggs leave but it is believed there were four in the party.

SOIL SURVEYS ARE MADE OF VALLEY LAND

Fargo, N. D., Oct. 31.—Detailed soil surveys of a number of counties in the eastern end of North Dakota have been completed. A general survey of the western half of the state, H. L. Walster, Agricultural College agronomist said today in announcing completion of survey work in Cass county for this year.

The soil survey work in slow and tedious but it is also important he added. "It is like an inventory," he said. It tells us what we have got and when we find that out we can find out what we can do with it. It is used for specific information regarding the needs of the individual soil type, best management of farms where certain soils prevail and proper rotation for the different soils.

Real estate men, prospective buyers and land appraisers also make use of the maps.

In the eastern end of the state detailed surveys have been made of certain counties including Richland, Sargent, Ransom, Dickey, LaMoure, Barnes, Traill, Sully and part of Cass. Published information is available on some of the mapped portions of the state and in any event information regarding the counties named and the western half of the state may be obtained by writing to Mr. Walster at the A. ## DIRECT TAXES FOR BONDS AT HUGE FIGURE

Almost Million Dollars Levied To Pay Interest on Industrial Bonds, Steen Says

LOANS ARE DELINQUENT

State Treasurer Points Out Cost of Measures Thus Far to State

Direct taxes amounting to $986,000 have already been levied in North Dakota to pay interest on bonds issued for the purpose of carrying out the so-called industrial program, according to statements made in an interview today by State Treasurer John Steen. This is just a beginning, Mr. Steen points out. He points to the fact that delinquencies in real estate loans made under the former administration are $439,000 and that taxes must be levied to make up this deficit, if it continues to exist.

No tax has yet been levied to pay for bonds when they become due, but the law provides that unless there is sufficient profit from the enterprises the bonds must be paid off in general taxation. Mr. Steen declared his support for J. F. T. O'Connor for United States Senator.

"I am supporting Mr. O'Connor for United States Senator said Mr. Steen. "Why shouldn't I? Two years ago I supported Mr. O'Connor for Governor and opposed Mr. Frazier. This was not because of any enmity toward Mr. Frazier or personal friendship for Mr. O'Connor. It was because of the different in the things the two men stood for. So far as I know these men still stand for the same things they stood for then. Mr. Frazier as Governor asked the enactment of House Bill 44. Mr. O'Connor as a member of the legislature opposed it. House Bill 44 made the sky the limit.

"What Socialism Costs
"As a result of the league industrial program put into operation by the Frazier administration, the tax-payers of North Dakota will be compelled to make good tremendous losses. Direct taxes of $986,000 have already been levied to pay interest on bonds issued for the purpose of carrying out the league program. This is just the beginning. No tax has, as yet, been levied to pay the bonds when they become due. Due to the fact that real estate loans made under the Frazier administration are delinquent, $439,000 of taxes has been levied to provide for the payment of interest on real estate bonds. Considering the fact that the Bank of North Dakota, during the Frazier administration, made only $27,710,000, in real estate loans, the defaults are to say the least rather startling. Are not these losses to the tax-payers enough? Yet, if House Bill 44 had carried, that is if the sky had been the limit what would the losses have been. In years to come, millions in taxes will have to be levied to pay the state obligations created by the Frazier administration.

Frazier on Senatorship
"I am a republican, and should naturally have preferred to have seen a Republican elected United States Senator. But there is no republican candidate for the office this year. If Frazier is elected, whose victory will it be? Will not every radical in America point to it as victory for what they stand for, and as a repudiation of Republicanism? Will not the Appeal to Reason, the New Republic, The Nation and other publications of that kind point to it as an evidence of the fact that the doctrines which they preach are in favor with the people of North Dakota.

"The people of North Dakota are confronted by questions which go deeper than party label. A Ford does not become a Ford because it is so labeled. Frazier has rather gloried in the fact that he is not bound by party ties, that he stands for things which the Republican party refuses to stand for, and which the two Republican ex-presidents Roosevelt and Taft condemned. It is an insult to intelligence to say that Frazier is entitled to support because he is a Republican and stands for Republican principles."

UNITED STATES REFUSES TO PARTICIPATE IN NEAR EAST CONFERENCE AT LAUSANNE

(By the Associated Press)
Washington, Oct. 31.—A formal reply declining the allied invitation for American participation in the Near East peace conference to be held next month at Lausanne, Switzerland, was forwarded today from the state department through the British, French and Italian embassies here.

Like the formal invitation, the American reply was brief and directly worded, informing the three European governments that the attitude of the United States and the reasons for sending only American observers to Lausanne, already had been set forth in instructions forwarded last week to the American embassies at London, Paris and Rome.

In the instructions to its ambassadors sent before the formal invitation of the allied governments was received, the state department took the position that the Lausanne conference primarily was a peace conference to conclude a war to which the United States was not a party and that therefore full American participation would be inappropriate.

At the same time, it was said that the Washington government was deeply interested in such questions as the freedom of the Dardanelles and the Bosphorus, and the protection of racial minorities in the Near East, and that American observers would be designated to report such developments in the negotiations as might touch upon these subjects.

Designation of the men who are to go to Lausanne in the capacity of observers has not been announced.

AUGUST TRYGG IS VICTIM OF HEART FAILURE

Pioneer Resident of Burleigh County Dies Suddenly In Bismarck

August Trygg, 69, for 40 years a resident of Burleigh county and a well known farmer, died suddenly in Bismarck about 5:15 o'clock last evening of heart failure. Mr. Trygg had been to the Cashman grocery to buy some bread and in returning crossed the lawn of Robert Morris and C. J. Martineson on Eighth street. Just before reaching the sidewalk steps of the Martineson home he fell.

Death probably was instantaneous. He was dead when women, who saw him fall, went to his aid.

Mr. Trygg was living in Bismarck, having retired from the farm three years ago when he sold his place in Gibbs township. Born in Sweden, he emigrated to Burleigh county and settled in Gibbs township. He lived there until his retirement, was a member of the township school board for years and always was active in civic affairs. After he retired he spent one year in Washington and had lived at other places. Two weeks ago he sold his home on Avenue B and moved to a place on Eighth street. He had suffered previously from a heart affection.

Mr. Trygg is survived by a widow, five children, two of whom are stepsons, 19 grand children and six or seven great grandchildren. David, Oscar and Frank Trygg are his sons, and Charles and Andrew are stepsons. Charles, Andrew and David live in Trygg, Frank in Gibbs township and Oscar is principal of the high school at Grand, N. D. Miss Hilda Askheim, a niece, has made her home with Mr. and Mrs. Trygg for 19 years. Walfrid Trygg, a nephew, also lives in Burleigh county. Many of his grand children live in Washington. Mr. Trygg would have been 70 years old on November 20.

Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Baptist church with Rev. C. C. Jensen officiating.

Aerial time tables, giving prices and time of all European air lines, have been published in Germany.

CONFESSES TO WRECKING TRAIN AT TODD, N. D.

(By the Associated Press)

D. on Oct. 19 which caused the derailment of a train and the death of the brakeman and engineer.

Kerns, according to the alleged confession, attributes the deed to recollection of a wreck at Trenton some time ago when fruit was spilled from cars, and is quoted as saying he thought cheap fruit would be a good thing for the people of the locality.

Married and Reared Family After Making Escape From Penitentiary

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 31.—Jesse Sanderson, Carthageville, Mo., farmer was on his way back to the Louisiana state penitentiary at Baton Rouge today to complete a life sentence, after enjoying 19 years of freedom following his escape from prison in 1903.

Sanderson was turned over to the authorities by his daughter, who, officers say was angered when her father drove away a young man who was paying attention to her. She notified the Louisiana prison authorities that her father was an escaped prisoner and Sanderson was arrested at his home yesterday.

Sanderson was convicted in 1901 of having killed a man named Kinley, whom he accused of stealing a plow from him. He was sentenced to life imprisonment but two years later escaped. After roaming all over the country, Sanderson went to Carthageville, married and has reared a family.

AUTHORITIES OF CANADA TO COOPERATE

(By the Associated Press)
Winnipeg, Man., Oct. 31.—North Dakota authorities will cooperate closely with the Manitoba and Saskatchewan police in preventing incursions by bandits and criminals generally into Canadian territory, it was announced today by Attorney General R. W. Craig of Manitoba, following receipt of a communication from officials at Bismarck, N. D.

In the representations made by the Attorney General to the North Dakota authorities, Mr. Craig said that, although bandits might not commit any depredations in United States territory, there was evidence that incursions were planned there.

That being the case, he declared, a crime was committed in United States territory and repressive measures in cooperation with the authorities in the Canadian West were desirable.

Former Sheriff Of South Dakota Is Arrested

(By the Associated Press)
London, Oct. 31.—The so-called cooperative pact between governmental Conservatives and the Lloyd Georgean national Liberals, which yesterday appeared to be gaining strength, today seemed near a smash-up, that may force Lloyd George really to carry out his threat to "spread the war" and wage a bitter fight to the finish with the men who brought about his downfall.

One trouble seems to be that Conservative candidates have bobbed up against those running under the Lloyd George banner in certain constituencies where the latter had regarded themselves as safe from attacks. Lloyd George is represented as being indignant and as contemplating the carrying out of his threat if the Conservative party does not withdraw some of the candidates already entered against his followers. Others feel sure that he will really "spread the war" with vigor should the die hard put up any more candidates against the national Liberals.

At this time the Lloyd Georgeans have about 160 candidates in the field, and they are reported to have 250 others in reserve. It is said to be Lloyd George's intention to let loose these reserves against the Conservatives unless his demands are met.

Dr. Benito Mussolini Outlines Policy of New Government

Rome, Oct. 31.—Twelve persons were reported dead today as the result of attacks yesterday in which Fascists were involved.

Snipers fired from windows while the Fascists from Abruzzi were crossing a workmen's quarter through which they were entering the city. Four Fascists fell dead. Reinforcements were sought and the police occupied the whole zone, which is the same one in which Fascists were attacked last May 24, during a celebration of the anniversary of Italy's entrance into the war.

The other fatalities reported today resulted from a clash yesterday afternoon between Fascists and Communists in the Sibirto quarter.

The Fascist high command today ordered the demobilization in Rome will leave for home after their patriotic procession, which will be held this evening.

The situation in Italy, according to a semi official expression today, is regarded as normal again. The settlement of the crisis, it is added, is hailed with great satisfaction by public opinion.

Groups of Fascists today invaded the homes of former Premier Nitti the homes of former Premier Nitti (Count Valini, Deputy Nicola Bombacci, the Communist leader, and Arturo Labriola, the socialist former minister. Socialist literature and other pamphlets were confiscated. Signor Nitti is absent in southern Italy.

AWAIT FASCISTI

Rome, Oct. 31.—Rome awaited with eager expectation today the formal entry into the city of thousands of Fascists who were called from all parts of the country over the week and in support of the Fascist demand for control of the country.

This demand, now satisfied with the call to power of their leader, Benito Mussolini, who yesterday formed a cabinet in which the Fascist influence strongly predominates, the new government was ready to take full control and its Fascist supporters from all Italy prepared to celebrate their triumph informally by night parade, undaunted by frequent heavy showers, singing patriotic Fascist songs interposed with Fascist war cries. Notwithstanding the rain they managed to light bonfires in which they burned socialist and communist literature.

These demonstrations and others which had occurred through the day, yesterday led to sporadic disorders in some quarters during which there was considerable shooting with a number of fatalities, a total of twelve deaths being reported.

LA FOLLETTE IS HEARD BY LARGE CROWD

Wisconsin Senator Discusses Economic and War Questions in Address

ATTACKS RAILROADS

Declares Movement in North Dakota Is Similar to One in Other States in '70's

"If Democracy does not work out here it will never work out anywhere."

"The right is superior to private right."

"We were lied into this war and lied to all through the war."

"We haven't got a friend on the other side of the Atlantic."

"Two percent of the American people own 65 percent of the wealth."

"Make every man a home owner."

These were a few of the remarks made by Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin last night in a two-hour and 25-minute speech in the Auditorium which was packed to the doors.

General E. A. Williams presided at the meeting, and Phillip La Follette, son of Senator La Follette, opened the evening with a short address based upon the functions of the government to the people.

Senator La Follette opened his address by declaring that he saw in the Nonpartisan movement in North Dakota a movement exactly like one which swept over the Northwest—Wisconsin, Illinois, Iowa, and Minnesota in the '70's. He developed his speech along this line, basing it on the historical development, the economic, commercial, and political development in the original northwest in comparison with the present northwest in which North Dakota is the center.

Attacks Railroads

In outlining his subject Senator La Follette reviewed the methods used by the railway companies in gaining control of transportation in the northwest, the development of democracy in the United States, the neutrality policy of this country during the early part of the war, the soldier bonus, and the wealth of the nation.

Senator La Follette declared that the people in the four states of the old Northwest were subjected to the tyranny of the railroads—that exorbitant freight rates were charged the people for shipping their grain to a market. He dwelt upon the assertion that there was no need for such excessive charges since the federal government, private citizens, municipalities, and states had given them large grants of land in order that large grants of land might be supplied with means for transportation. He said that the land given the railroads was sufficient, had it been used economically, to pay for the construction of two transcontinental systems across the country. He said that the high freight rates now being charged were due to the high average of water in the stock of the corporations. The fight for terminal elevators and lower rates which developed into the Nonpartisan movement in the state of North Dakota has grown out of conditions similar to those in the other states, he declared.

Public Right Paramount

He said that in correcting these evils the right of the public was always superior to that of private individuals. It is based on the same principal as the right of the government to condemn right of ways for public utilities.

In explaining this he went back to Washington's farewell address and quoted Thomas Jefferson, James Madison, and Alexander Hamilton.

Senator La Follette declared that there was no need for the people of this country to fear another flag. He said, "There can't be a flag raised in this country which has any need to anyone if it is only a flag to represent."

Slams War Attitude

Senator La Follette said that the United States had not observed impartial neutrality during the war prior to America's entrance. He declared that Germany was discriminated against, that England was allowed to fight Germany by means of starving her civilian population—that this resulted in Germany's use of the submarine.

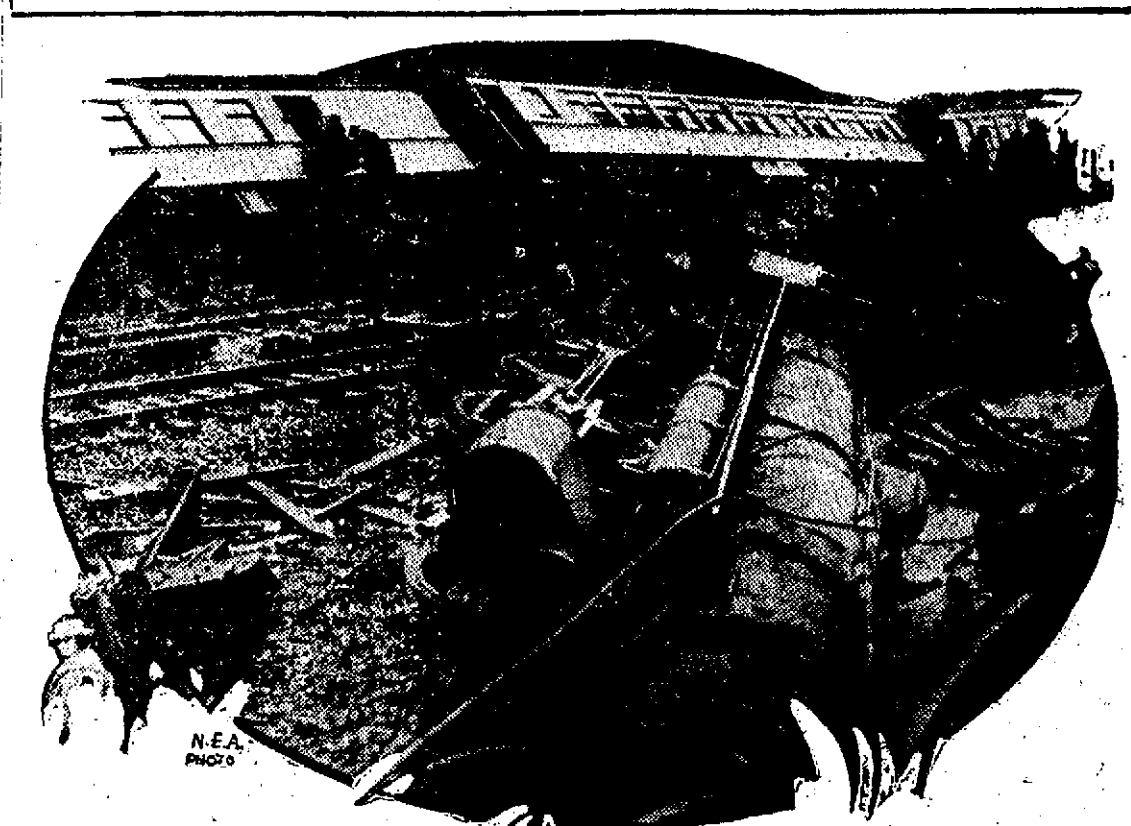

He attacked what he said was the financial interest of Wall Street in the war, asserting Wall Street financiers were the ones who precipitated the recent war. He declared that they had underwritten the Allies and that when it appeared as if they would be beaten, they forced our government to take a part in the war in order to insure the safety of their money.

"It was profitable business," he said.

In speaking of the Soldier Bonus he condemned the attitude of administration officials for not passing such a bill. He said that promises of all kinds of aid had been made the soldiers when they went over to fight, but that when they returned home after the war and the munition manufacturers and others had made their millions, the government and these same millionaires "could not afford to pay the soldiers a bonus." As a result the only compensation or aid given them since their return had been that provided by the various states, he said. He said that the Soldier Bonus was very popular in Wisconsin so long as it was to be raised by a general tax, but that as soon as a measure providing that it should be paid by an excess profits tax, it lost its popularity with the business interests.

He said that two percent of the people of the United States control 15 percent of the wealth of the nation. He said that this centralization of the control of the wealth of the nation had been gradually increasing since the founding of the col-

PIPE DROPS FROM AUTO WITH THIS RESULT

Striking a piece of pipe which had dropped from an auto truck crossing the Baltimore & Ohio railroad tracks, the Fairmount Express was derailed at Sutersville, Pa. The engine left in the rails and plunged diagonally across the track into the town's main street, carrying four coaches with it.

Telephone trees, fences, walls, trees and other obstacles were smashed as the engine traveled several hundred feet off the tracks. The fireman was killed, the engineer was severely injured and 20 passengers were slightly injured.

SON SPEAKS

Phillip La Follette, using many of the same methods as his father in speaking opened his address by quoting the preamble of the constitution. He said that the one great issue facing the people of the United States was whether the government should function for all the people or just a few.

He illustrated this by reviewing the history of the railways in this country and the attitude taken by our government in Haiti and Mexico. He said that it was only the moneyed interests of Wall Street who were urging interference by the United States in Mexico.

Talks of Lignite

G. W. Stewart, editor of the Wilton News and president of the North Dakota Press Association, discussed possibilities of the Slope and its resources, referring chiefly to the development of the lignite coal business. Hugh Black of Werner emphasized the many features of the Slope that should be attractive to its people and to settlers. He declared that North Dakota has one of the healthiest climates in America, and that the Slope has the finest climate in the world. This, he said, ought to be talked by Slope residents.

R. E. Flint, dairy commissioner, advocated agitation to provide a national park in the beautiful Killdeer mountains and in the Bad Lands. He remarked during the course of his talk, which was chiefly on dairying, that a prominent seed man in the eastern part of the state told recently that within a few years the entire Northwest would be looking to western North Dakota for its seed corn.

Organization Formed

The Slope editors were guests of the Mandan Town Criers club, the speeches following a banquet. The Missouri Slope Press and Development Association was formed at the meeting, officers and an executive committee named to formulate a definite program. The committee consists of a representative from each of the counties west and south of the Missouri river and McLean, Burleigh and Emmons. Officers were named as follows:

First Vice-President—E. L. Peterson, Dickinson.

Second Vice-President—Hugh Black, Werner.

Secretary—J. H. Tostevin, Mandan.

New Method Necessary

Mr. Benson declared that the old hip and hurrah method of getting land settlers has passed. To bring a man in and "sting" him on the price of land is a fallacy, and it reacts to injure the whole community, he said. He told of a land settlement idea in Wisconsin, where one man had 35,000 acres. This man, he said, organized a "Farmers Club" in the village—they don't call it a Commercial club, he said—and brought every new settler into the organization as soon as he arrived. The boys of the settlers were brought into pig and calf clubs.

He urged preparation for the settler before he comes, a welcome and a continuing welcome so that he will find a real home.

Martin Connelly of the New England Herald, taking exception to Mr. Benson's remarks, agreeing with him but declaring that in the Slope territory this very thing was being done—sketching briefly the organization of pig and calf, dairy, cheese and other clubs in Hettinger county. The bankers had taken the land, he declared, and wonderful progress is being made.

TAX PROGRAM IS DISPUTED IN MONTANA

Governor Dixon's Ideas Have Become an Issue in Campaign

Helena, Oct. 28.—Chief interest in the Montana political campaign, which is to close Nov. 6, will be the tax program of Governor Joseph M. Dixon, which has been variously opposed by the democrats and by certain factions of republicans as well. To put this program through, the governor will need both houses of the state assembly, and in consequence the battle for seats has been keen.

National issues have hinged largely on the record of the Harding administration whose achievements were made his sole plank by Congressman Carl Riddick of Lewistown, candidate for the senate to succeed Henry L. Myers of Hamilton, democrat, who was not a candidate for re-election. Mr. Riddick is opposed by B. K. Wheeler of Butte, defeated candidate for governor two years ago.

Running for congress in the first district, John M. Evans, democrat, opposes Washington J. McCormick, the incumbent, who displaced him in 1920. In the second district, Scott Leavitt of Great Falls, republican, opposed P. B. Moss of Billings.

If You Want A Clear Skin, Good Health, Heed This Advice

St. Paul, Minn.—"Both my husband and I consider Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets ideal as a home remedy for sluggish liver and stomach disorders. We believe they have saved us many a doctor bill, and I would not care to keep house without the Pleasant Pellets in my medicine chest. They are mild as well as being effective as a laxative, and also give relief in cases of indigestion. I have found them exceptionally good during motherhood. They did not grip or cause any other distress."—Mrs. Florence Keenan, No. 909 Margaret Street.

Obtain a trial of Pellets now of your druggist and see how quickly you feel clear headed—full of vim and vitality.

J. F. T. O'CONNOR

J. F. T. O'Connor, independent candidate for United States Senator, was brought up on a farm in Grand Forks County.

Received his early education in the public schools; later graduated from the University of North Dakota with the degree of B. A. and LL. B. and M. A. Instructor in public speaking at Yale 1910-1912; has since practiced law in Grand Forks; has at the same time engaged extensively in farming in conjunction with his brothers, and personally devotes a part of every summer to farm work.

Elected a member of the Legislature in 1916 and reelected without opposition in 1918. Was supported for speaker, in 1919 by independent Republicans and Democrats. Has taken a firm stand against the socialistic schemes of the Nonpartisan League, but has not hesitated to support measures he thought and merit, such as the state hail insurance, workmen's compensation law, etc.

As Democratic candidate for governor in 1920 he was defeated by only 4,630 votes, while Harding carried the state by 122,000 votes. This was prior to the damaging disclosures of Frazier's mismanagement of public affairs.

He is admirably qualified to represent North Dakota in the United States Senate with credit to himself and the state. He will appreciate your vote and can be relied on to be a true representative of the people of this state.

Nestos and O'Connor have fought shoulder to shoulder for North Dakota. Nestos has had a little chance and has made good. Give O'Connor a chance and Nestos a full term.

Amundsen's Schooner Stuck Fast in Arctic Seas

The schooner C. S. Holmes, a sailing vessel which carried supplies to Captain Amundsen, Arctic explorer, stuck fast in the frozen waters of the Arctic Ocean. Amundsen today is living in a hut on the icy banks of the Arctic Ocean awaiting his opportunity for a dash to the Pole.

A justice and chief justice of the supreme court, a clerk of the same court, and a railway commissioner also are to be elected, in addition to the lower house of the assembly and a majority of the senate.

The present legislature is overwhelmingly republican, the last house having embraced only seven democrats in all.

In Rosebud county, State Senator John E. Edwards, for many years his party's leader in the upper chamber, was defeated in the primaries and is out as an independent. In Ravalli county, Mrs. Maggie Smith Hathaway also seeks a senate seat on an independent ticket.

Of a number of questions submitted to the people, chief popular interest has centered in a bill to restore betting on horse racing. Other measures to be voted on include a referendum for a soldiers bonus; a constitutional amendment on taxation and a bill to combine city and county governments.

NESTOS MAKES AN APPEAL TO STATE VOTERS

and nation, taking their advice or questions of state and national importance and appointing them to public office; a man who shows no regard for the constitution of his state if it runs counter to the desires of the radicals with whom associates—if North Dakota send such a man to the Senate, can we blame the people of other states if they lose confidence in us when we indicate by our vote that we approve of such misconduct. If we elect a man to the United States Senate who, as governor of the state, respoinded as bank examiner a man who he knew had made a false statement under oath to the Supreme Court ordering the reopening of the Scandinavian American Bank with the consequent loss of several hundred thousand dollars to the state, to the depositors, and to those who were persuaded to buy stock in that bank after its reopening—if we elect such a man to the Senate, knowing his past record, can we expect the people of other states to extend credit or to repose any confidence in us?

"You know what happened after the people of other states began to realize the true character of the Nonpartisan League, which had secured control of our state government. You all know that it became impossible to sell our state bonds, and that the rail warrants were being sold at discounts of 20 cents or more on the dollar. The confidence of those who have money to loan was shaken in the government and citizenship of our state. They refused to extend us the credit and give us the loans which were necessary to conduct our usual business enterprises within the state and in getting our farm products to market.

Building Slow Process
"After the recall election last fall, the slow process of again building up the credit of the state was begun, and it has borne good fruit; the citizens of other states accepted the result of that election as evidence that North Dakota was again entering upon an era of good sense in the management of the public business. But if you now repudiate the action taken at the recall election by electing to the highest office within your gift, the man whom you recalled from office as governor, you will give the people of other states reason to think that you now approve of the evils of which you disapproved last year. If you do that you will not only again destroy that confidence which is now in a fair way to be re-established, but you will make it impossible for a long time to reassure those people that we are not in sympathy with Mr. Frazier's records, and do not endorse the views on the rights of confiscation of property which are held by the I. W. W. and other radicals with whom Mr. Frazier associates and whom he has befriended. It will then take more than one election to restore their confidence. Frazier has not in any way indicated that he is sorry that he is permitted so much graft and misuse of public funds, and public confidence while he was governor, and that he now believes that a governor should be more faithful, more watchful over the public's interest, and more honest than he was. That confidence to our prosperity will not be completely restored for six years or more if Mr. Frazier is elected to be judged by the company he keeps, and a state cannot escape being judged by the man it elects to office.

Up to Voters
"If the vote recorded on November 7th, should in any way indicate that the people of North Dakota approve of such misconduct of public affairs as even our opponents admit prevailed under the Frazier-Lemke administration or of such social and economic theories as are advocated by the Frazier-Lemke group, we can not reasonably expect the people of other states to respect or trust us. As governor, and as a citizen, it is my duty to seek to promote the welfare of the people of this state by every just and honorable means in my power. You expect me to do that but I must have your full cooperation or the result of our effort cannot be satisfactory to either you or me. Therefore I want to ask, with all the earnestness that I can command, that if you want to help to further re-establish North Dakota's credit and to restore good will and neighborliness in our state, you must not only prevent the recording of any vote that would injure our state but you must make every effort between now and November 7th to secure the election of every candidate on our ticket, including J. F. T. O'Connor for United States senator. The bigger the majority for the O'Connor-Nestos ticket the sooner we will enjoy that era of peace, good will and prosperity for which we are all longing."

LIQUOR APPEAL IS DISMISSED

In dismissing the appeal of the state in the case of Ira Kelsey, on a liquor violation charge, from Sargent county, the supreme court held that the questions were moot and that where the defendant and bondsmen had been discharged the state could not appeal.

Kelsey was prosecuted for having liquor in his possession unlawfully. A verdict of acquittal was directed. The state attempted to prove, through affidavits for search warrant and sheriff's return thereon, that the premises described had been searched. The evidence, on objection, was refused.

The court's decision held that where evidence concerning the seizure was rejected and no evidence of intoxicating liquors were found in the defendant's possession the questions were moot on appeal.

Question Story of "Eye Witness" to Mills Murder

(By the Associated Press)
New Brunswick, N. J., Oct. 31.—The credibility of Miss Jane Gibson, who says she was an eye witness of the murder of the Rev. Edward J. Hall, rector of the Episcopal church of St. John the Evangelist, and his choir leader, Mrs. Eleanor Reinhardt Mills, was subjected to criticism again today. Authorities continued their investigation into her part in the case.

Special Attorney General Walter A. Mott has made no move to prevent Mrs. Gibson's story to the grand jury. He said he had found nothing which would tend to discredit her account of the murder.

Mrs. Gibson was reported today to have fired a hotpan at three newspaper photographers who appeared at her home.

FIRES AT REPORTERS

New Brunswick, N. J., Oct. 31.—Mrs. Jane S. Gibson, who recently dramatically announced that she had been eye witness to the Hall-Mills murders, today clinched her hold on the center of the stage by firing a load of bird shot over the heads of the reporters who persisted in surrounding her farm house and peppering her with questions.

Mrs. Gibson became irritated this morning when an army of newspaper men showed at her door. The reporters returned to town and addressed their questions to her over the telephone. She admitted that it was she who had wielded the shotgun.

This Laxative Works Fine on Old People

Thousands of people are asking themselves, "Where can I find a truly effective laxative that never irritates the bowels?" The answer is "Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin." It is a truly effective laxative for old people. It is a truly effective laxative for old people. It is a truly effective laxative for old people.

ADVANCING AGE WITH ITS
subdued ambitions and strivings could be made very happy if only good health accompanied it, and the basis of good health, is everyone learns upon reaching the age of 60, is the regular daily movement of the bowels. If it can be effected through the food you eat, the water you drink and the exercise you take, much the better. But if nature will not operate it must be assisted or sickness will follow. Neglected constipation causes the blood pressure to go up 25 per cent, and that is the forerunner of hardening of the arteries. It makes rheumatism and gout worse, too.

(By the Associated Press)
Minot, N. D., Oct. 31.—"Depleted reserve and lack of confidence by the customers as a result of the previous closing of the bank" were the reasons attributed by Gilbert Semington, state bank examiner, for the closing of the First State Bank of Sawyer yesterday. Mr. Semington is in Minot today conferring with various persons on business matters. The bank was closed several months ago by the state examiner's department, because of general conditions existing in the vicinity of Sawyer but was reopened early this year.

THE MILL IS OPENED
The Grand Forks state mill and elevator opened yesterday. It is a modern plant in which about $2,500,000 of the taxpayers' money is invested, a big mill as mills go, and it will require large capital to run it at full capacity. There were dedicatory exercises, and there was a burst of local pride on the part of the people of Grand Forks who see in the big concrete buildings and bins a permanent addition to the commercial life of the city, whether the state continues to operate it or does not. The opening, the description of the ceremonies stated, represents the end of a 30-year fight in North Dakota. But there was no enthusiasm shown throughout the state, no shouting or loud hurrahs that the long fight had been won. Instead, the attitude of most of the people is one of expectancy and fear. The statement of the state treasurer shows that direct taxes amounting to $986,000 already have been levied to carry out the so-called industrial measure. This, he says, is just a starter. The little Drake mill lost $80,000 within a short time. The Grand Forks mill, as a business proposition, starts under the handicap that much of the cost is based on peak after-the-war prices, that delays have increased interest charges until if the business is conducted as a private business it must provide a return upon an amount far greater than such a mill would cost if constructed today.
But perhaps the greater reason for the failure of the mill completion to arouse great enthusiasm in the realization that whether the mill is a success or failure it will have little if any effect on the solution of the marketing problem of the North Dakota farmer. The mill, though large, can grind only a fraction of the wheat crop of North Dakota. It may survive in a market in which there is fierce competition but it cannot influence that market or dominate it. Nor can there be the pride in it that people of Minneapolis feel in the development of a great milling center there from a small beginning, pride in the foresight, energy and courage of pioneer residents of that city. Perhaps the greatest hope now expressed by taxpayers is that the mill will not cost them any more money.

MISCHIEF NIGHT
Hallowe'en, when it started far back in the mists of time, was the night when evil spirits were supposed to flock out of hiding and roam the earth, marauding and destroying.
After many centuries we see the work of the evil spirits inherited and ably handled by Willie, Tom, Pat and the rest of the youthful "gang."
It illustrates how next to impossible it is to get a custom or superstition out of the human brain, once it gets there.

On the ancient agricultural calendar, Hallowe'en was a sort of New Year's Day. Harvest was over and the landlord called for his share of the crops raised by tenant farmers. It was custom for him to arrive late in the evening and make merry at such pastimes as cider drinking and apple bobbing. When the fun was over and the landlord got down to business, it was early morning of Nov. 1.
Probably this is why the first of the month is rent-paying day, instead of the 15th or any other date that would be just as logical.

Time was, when Hallowe'en was less a night of devilry and more a night of hospitality, good fellowship, roaring fireplaces, good things to eat and drink, and delightful superstitions such as walking down cellar stairs backward, carrying a candle and a mirror in which "her" future husband's face might appear.
The world never has enough of hospitality and goodfellowship. Let's revive it, this Hallowe'en, and make the night of witches and goblins jovial as well as prankful.

PROSPEROUS
Robert Capone, owner of the March Hare tea room in Boston, gets an order for a 50-plate banquet for college sorority girls. They change their minds. Capone is "stuck with the eats."
He goes out to round up 50 starving unfortunates in Boston parks. The offer of a free meal lures only 15. Hundreds of others, solicited, yawn as they look in the sun and say they are so full already that they couldn't eat another mouthful.
A year ago, Capone would have been mobbed by hungry men. It's just one more indication that Old Man Hard Times is crawling back into his coffin.

MELONS
Sober second thought suggests that some of these stock dividends are cucumbers or lemons, rather than melons.
A share of stock is really a mortgage on part of the actual physical values of a business. Divide the total number of outstanding shares of stock into the dollars or physical value that the shares represent, and you have the true value of one share.
When the number of shares is doubled, the original real value of one share is cut in two. Tripled, divide by three. And so on. That's simple arithmetic. A gallon remains a gallon, whether you keep it in one jug or divide it into quarts or pints.

VOTERS
In Russia only soldiers and peasants or other people who actually work with hand or brain are allowed to vote.
New orders, issued to Soviet election officials, rule that the following shall not be permitted to vote: "Persons who employ hired labor for the purposes of profit, persons who live on unearned increment, private dealers, traders and commercial agents, clergymen, monks and all employees of religious cults."
This is class government, "pure and simple." Among others, it bars from the polls a farmer employing one farmhand. Still, what happens in Russia is the Russians' business, not ours.

THE SUICIDE OF GREENWICH VILLAGE

Greenwich village has had trouble occasionally, with a tendency of its individual villagers to commit suicide. But now it appears that Greenwich village itself has virtually committed suicide. Doubtless many of its artists and writers were less eccentric in both art and morals than popular opinion imagined; but lack of conventional restraint was the one admitted quality of Greenwich villageism which made the greatest impression on the world outside, and which is now alleged to have had fatal results. Outsiders who had plenty of money and nothing serious to do—perhaps making some slight pretense to artistic or literary occupation, and perhaps not—have flocked to the village to get their share of its unrestraint.
At first they were welcome there, for they brought money with them. But as their numbers increased, it had the sad but natural effect of putting rents higher and higher, until the real, original Greenwich village type of artist, who gave the place its peculiar fame, could no longer afford to live there. The name remains, but if reports are to be believed, the Greenwich village of the recent past is hopelessly dispersed to a multitude of places where cheaper lodgings are to be found. By making Greenwich village what it was, they made it impossible that it should remain what it was.—Columbus Dispatch.

BEATING THE MONEY POWER

The worry of the great minds of finance, industry and politics over deflated currency and chaotic exchange is only another example of selfish celebration. Because the world was happy and prosperous when currency and exchange were normal, all they can see is that the only way to regain happiness and prosperity is to make currency and exchange normal again. A humble, unnamed American has shown the way to use the financial mess to establish an existence which makes Utopia look like a fillyer.

When this American started for a trip to and through Europe, he had in his pocket a round trip ticket and 1,000 American dollars. He had a whale of a time, didn't jump a single board bill and tip the hotel all around. When he got back he still had his $1,000 and $2,000 besides. All he did was to sell American money when and where it was cheap.

Making money by spending it, scraps the root of all evil. It leaves money just about as useless as a deposed king. All you do is to get a bit of a nest egg (you're got to have that) and then blow it. The harder you blow the bigger your bank balance gets. No work, no worry. The curse of Eden will be gone. Spending money will make the face sweaty, though it may get furrowed.

The high cost of living will be the way to wealth. The coal mine owners will raise wages to increase their profits. The farm bloc will get behind the Esch-Cummings law, because high freight prices will put money in the farmers' pockets. The Republican party will be defeated because the Fordney-McCumber tariff rates are too low. Perhaps the ship subsidy can be made big enough so that the return from what the government gives the ship owners will pay all our taxes.
Incredulous persons are sure to look for the catch in it. Someone is sure to remark that the American's $2,300 must have come out of someone's pocket and to ask what about them? But that's a mere detail. The American showed that the principle is all right.—Milwaukee Journal.

THE ELTINGE

Pauline Garon finds that there are compensations beyond the salary envelope in being selected as the leading lady for Richard Barthelmess in "Sonny." Miss Garon went to the Strand theater in New York on the opening night of "Tollable David," which was Mr. Barthelmess' first picture in which he was starred. The little ingenue was swallowed up by the crowd that wanted to get into the theater, which was so great that the doors had to be closed.
"Hold on," she cried, as she saw the ticket taker turning away disappointed patrons. "I want to get in. I'm Mr. Barthelmess' leading lady in his next picture, and I must get in."
"All right," said the ticket taker with a grin, but you're the nineteenth who has pulled that on me tonight."
"Sonny" which is being shown at the Eltinge Wednesday and Thursday is the story of a soldier returning from France to take the place of a buddy who has fallen on the field of action. Tickets have been sold for "Sonny" by the ladies of the Women's Community Council for the benefit of the School Milk Fund which may be used for matinee or evening performances. Ticket will be on sale at the Eltinge box office at the usual admission price.

CHAPTER II
Guided by Quintana's directions, the three had made a wide detour to the east, steering by compass for the cross-roads beyond Star Pond. In a dense growth of cedars, on a little ridge traversing wet land, Quintana halted to listen.
Sard and Sanchez, supposing him to be at their heels, continued on, pushing their way blindly through the cedars, clinging to the hard ridge in terror of sink-holes. But their progress was very slow; and they were still in sight, fighting a painful path and the evergreens, when Quintana suddenly squatted down to the moist earth behind a juniper bush.
At first, except for the thrashing of Sard and Sanchez through the massed obstructions ahead, there was not a sound in the woods.
But, presently, came a soft, swift rhythm like the pace of a forest-creature tread which was more a series of light earth-shocks than sound.
Quintana, kneeling on one knee, lifted his pistol. He already felt the slight vibration of the ground on the hard ridge. The cedars were moving just beyond him now. He waited until, through the partial foliage, a face appeared.
The loud report of his pistol struck Sard with the horror of paralysis. Sanchez faced about with one spring, snarling, a weapon in either hand.
In the terrible silence they could hear something heavy floundering in the bushes, choking, moaning, thudding on the ground.
Sanchez began to creep back; Sard, more dead than alive, crawled at his heels. Presently they saw Quintana, waist deep in juniper, looking down at something.
And when they drew closer they saw Georgiades lying on his back under a cedar, the whole front of his shirt from chest to belly a sopping mess of blood.
There seemed no need of explanation. The dead Greek lay there where he had not been expected, and his two pistols lay beside him where they had fallen.
Sanchez looked stealthily at Quintana, who said softly:
"Bien sure. . . . In his left side, pocket, I believe."
Sanchez laid a cool hand on the dead man's heart; then, satisfied, rummaged until he found Georgiades' share of the loot.
Sard, hurriedly displaying a pair of clean but shaky hands, made the divison.
When the three men had silently pocketed what was allotted to each, Quintana pushed forward to the dead man with the toe of his shoe.
"Fest!" he remarked. "I had placed, or secured, a 'ter' (a diamond) in my pistol barrel. Now it is within the interior of this gentleman's . . . ."
He turned to Sanchez: "I sell him to you. One ship phire, yes?"
Sanchez shook his head with a slight sneer: "We wait if you want your diamond, non capitene."
Quintana hesitated, then made a grimace and shook his head.
"No," he said, "he has swallowed his diamond. Allons! March!"

of the ominous stains from sleeve and shoe, very far away to the north he heard a curious noise, a far, faint sound such as he never before had heard.
If it were a voice of any sort, there was nothing human about it. Probably some sort of unknown bird. . . . Perhaps a bird of prey. . . . That was natural, considering the attraction that Georgiades would have for such creatures. . . . If it were a bird it must be a large one, he thought. . . . Because there was a certain volume to the cry. . . . Perhaps it was a beast. . . . After all. . . . Some unknown beast of the forest. . . .
Sanchez was suddenly afraid. Scarcely knowing what he was doing he began to run along the edge of the bog.
He was tired, or thought he was, but the alarming sounds were filling his ears now; the entire forest seemed full of them, echoing in all directions coming in upon him from everywhere, so that he knew not in which direction to run.
The next instant he fell headlong over a ledge, struck water, felt himself whirled around in the icy, rushing current, rolled over, tumbled through rapids, blinded, deafened, choked, swept helplessly in a vast green wall of water toward something that thundered in his brain an instant, then dashed it into roaring chaos.
Half a mile down the turbulent

Tom Sims Says
Hallowe'en is one of our most unknown-about celebrations.
Apparently without any provocation that is what tonight is.
Its original dates back even before the annals of history.
While it only comes once a year it has seldom been known to miss.
It really is All Soul's Day, but all the sinners celebrate.
Yet, as a saxophonist said, "It's an ill wind that blows no good."
If you have furniture you dislike just leave it on the porch.
William can get his ears clean bobbing for apples in a tub.
Steal your own fence and gate and it will help with the coal bill.
This is the only way you can give the coal barons the gate.
People naturally hankering for a party can find one naturally.
Your visitor will be guests because you guess who they are.
You will know which is witch but can't tell which is which.
When the cats are served watch the goblin gobble.
Fortunes can be told tonight and misfortunes tomorrow.
King of spades means you needed a king of diamonds.
Four aces, you will be rich. Five aces, you will be shot.
Tea grounds in a cup bottom means it wasn't coffee.
Apple peels shaped like letters shows they are not orange peels.
Count apple seeds. One with the most proves the early wroth lute.
Apples dangling from strings is an excellent string game.
Each is the apple of your eye because that is where it hits you.
Race, chewing opposite string end, stops chewing the rag.
In this chewing match always give the men a two-foot start.
Blindfold everyone and let them hunt thumbtacks barefooted.
Enjoyment is added if they carry lighted candles in both hands.
Hide and seek is fine. Seek to pull someone's flowers and hide.
Then the owner of the flowers seek your hide and tans it.
The ghost really walks for those who get paid on the first.
All the pumpkin heads running around won't have candles in them.

A THOUGHT
And the work of righteousness shall be peace; and the effect of righteousness, quietness and assurance forever.—Isaiah 32:12.
Sometimes the things our life misses help more than the things which it gets.—Alice Cary.

SERIOUS BLADDER TROUBLE
"Could not stand nor sit and was forced to cry out from intense pain," writes Henry Williams, of Montana. "The doctor said I had inflammation of the bladder and operation was necessary. Tried Foley Kidney Pills and improved at once. Tell all my friends about Foley Kidney Pills as it will save many from suffering and perhaps, as in my case, a dangerous operation." Bladder and kidney trouble demand prompt treatment. Foley Kidney Pills give quick relief.

My mother had great faith in it as she had taken so much of it and when I had trouble after my baby was born she gave it to me. It helped me so much more than anything else had done that I advise all women with female trouble to give it a fair trial and I am sure they will feel as I do about it.—Mrs. FRED. P. A medicine that has been in use nearly fifty years and that receives the praise and commendation of mothers and grandmothers is worth your consideration.
If you are suffering from troubles that sometimes follow a child-birth bear in mind that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a woman's medicine. It is especially adapted to correct such troubles.
The letters we publish ought to convince you; ask some of your women friends or neighbors—they know its worth. You will, too, if you give it a

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS
By Olive Barton Roberts
Mars was full of surprises and Nancy and Nick, traveling along its crooked road, saw all of them.
They had just said goodbye to the three-cornered boy when they met a queer old man with a long beard.
His beard was so long that he had to wind it round a wheel like a garden hose, so he could carry it. Nancy couldn't help thinking of the little girl in the poem whose neck grew so long that she had to carry her head around in a wheelbarrow.
"Good morning," the old man greeted them. "Whence comest thou?"
"From the earth," answered Nick, returning his greeting, although he couldn't understand why the man should say "good morning" instead of "good yesterday" or "good day."
"We are hunting for Mother Goose's broom which is lost. Have you seen it?" asked Nancy.
"Highly likely! You don't say so," exclaimed the old man. "That is too bad! Mother Goose is my forty-second cousin and I knew how she prizes her broom. It's been in the family for thousands of years. But there! I see you're looking at my wonderful beard. I'll tell you about it. Whenever the people of Mars wish to go to another star, they call upon me.
"Then I unwind my long beard—so!" and the old man turned the wheel so fast that yards and yards of his beard piled upon the ground.
"Then I make a loop in the end of it—so—and throw it until it catches on a star point—like a lasso. That makes a fine tight rope that anyone can walk over. Is there any place you wish to go, my dears?"
The Twins said there were lots of places, but it was all the same to them.

(Statement given October 17, 1919).

WHAT A RELIEF! SLEEVE AT LAST MAKES UP MIND

Sleeves have been in a wavering, undecided state.

Word came that they were creeping past the elbow, almost out of sight!

Then sleeves themselves came in such a wonderful new style that the argument was settled by the charm of the sleeve itself.

Here is the sleeve that settled the question. At a glance you can see that it is capable of settling not only the question of sleeves but of the entire style of the dress.

It has the chic and charm of the unexpected. Some sudden whim of contrariness made it tight where it used to be wide, made it loose where it used to be tight and there you have the new sleeve!

Whether it is of contrasting material, whether it is embroidered elaborately, whether it is cuffed with braid, it remains for the season at least as the smartest sleeve your dress can have!

NEW ALL-STEEL DODGE SEDAN ARRIVES HERE

The first new All-Steel Dodge Brothers Business Sedan has just arrived in Bismarck, and is on display at the salesrooms of M. B. Gilman Co., during the day and from 7 to 8:30 evenings this week only.

The new and practical arrangement of the seats is very interesting, while the All-Steel construction makes for a ruggedness and lightness which can be obtained only in an All-Steel car. This construction permits the outside finish of the famous oven-baked enamel which has contributed so much to the reputation of Dodge Brothers open cars.

"We believe," says M. B. Gilman, "that all automobile owners, regardless of the car they may not own will be greatly interested in this new All-Steel Sedan at its remarkably low price, and we hope that everybody will come in to see this Dodge Brothers Sedan, during the few days that we are able to display this new type of closed car."

All Life's Emotions In "A Doll's House"

Every human emotion is pictured and all the elements of a really great play are to be found in "A Doll's House," which the great Norwegian, who made this play tremendously popular on the speaking stage has transferred to the screen by his first production for United States Artists, and which will be seen tomorrow at the Capitol theater.

There is comedy and pathos, even to the point of laughter and tears according to the theatre managerment; there is humor in the situations wherein Nora, the doll-like

NEW SCHEDULE IS ANNOUNCED BY H. S. BOARD

Board of Control Members Change Mind — Bismarck Will Play Williston Team

The board of control of high athletes in the state, after the members apparently had changed their mind two or three times, gave out an announcement today stating that the Fargo-Bismarck game announced yesterday was all off. The announcement said Williston would play at Bismarck in the semi-finals and that Cavalier would play Fargo at Fargo Saturday morning.

Local high school officials had been planning for the Fargo game when the dispatch received by The Tribune this morning was read. The inquiry developed confirmation for the dispatch, except that, according to Coach Houser, the place of the game with Williston has not been determined.

An effort will be made to have the Bismarck-Williston game at Minot on Saturday.

The announcement of the semi-finals was made by B. E. Tighe of Fargo, president of the high school league, and it is presumed here that it is final.

FEW FRILLS IN H. S. ATHLETICS

Most Schools in State Do Not Have Regularly Assigned Coach

Few of the North Dakota high schools put on frills in their competitive athletic work, according to the answers to a questionnaire sent out recently by the Associated Press to the various high schools of the state. The answers came largely from the schools having football teams on the field this fall and probably represents a small percentage of the high schools of the state that have some sort of athletic competition during the year.

Football, basketball and track are the mainstays of the schools reporting, with baseball taking the place of track in some places. A very few of the schools have all four of the sports. Bench reported as an additional sport, boxing and Drayton added hockey and curling to their list of sports.

In a very small share of the schools do more than one man coach in the same sport, while in many of the schools the same man is coach of all of the athletic teams supported by the school.

The North Dakota athletic mentors, the high schools they represent and the competitions indulged in follow:

- Bench, Carl C. Quakenbush: Football, basketball, track.
- Bismarck — Edgar T. Houser: Football, basketball, track.
- Bottineau — Ed. Ertter: Football, basketball, track, baseball.
- Bowman — W. Earl Rugg: Football, basketball, track.
- Casselman — Mr. Haig: Football, basketball, baseball.
- Crosby — E. A. Quam: Football, basketball, track, baseball.
- Dickinson — W. Williamson: Football, basketball, track.
- Drayton — "Chum" Gilroy: Football, basketball, track.
- Fargo — L. Busness, M. Peterson: Football, basketball, track.

THEY GUARD AGGIES' ENDS

Many Bismarck alumni of the Agricultural College are planning to see the annual clash with the University of North Dakota on Home Coming day, at the Agricultural College, November 4. Phil, Boise, Bismarck high school graduate, is one of the Aggies' star ends and forward pass receiver. Much depends on the way he snatches the pigskin out of the air in the game. Frank Roberts of Bismarck, also was making a strong bid for end on the team until injuries forced him out.

Eastern Expert Lauds Iowa Team

Regards Parkin as One of Greatest Quarterbacks He Ever Saw

By Billy Evans
What do the eastern experts think of Iowa, the conqueror of Yale?

Recently I put such a question to one of football's leading authorities. This expert attended the Yale-Iowa game as a scout. He was there for two purposes, to scout both Yale and Iowa. It happens that one of the western teams to play Iowa is coached by a personal friend and he was there to pass on his impressions to said friend.

First I asked him what he thought of Locke, who I regard as one of the best fullbacks the west has developed in years.

"Locke has a lot of drive and determination, but against Yale he spoiled his efforts by fumbling after being tackled," he said. "In a measure this fault may be attributed to the terrific tackling of Mallory, the Yale back, who is undoubtedly one of the greatest defensive backs of modern football. Defensively Locke played a great game, offensively he was a bit of a disappointment."

A year ago I had sung the praises of Aubrey Devine to this eastern expert. I was much interested in getting his impression of Leland Parkin, successor to Devine at Iowa. "Prior to the Yale-Iowa game a number of people told me that while Parkin was a good quarter he was not a patch on Aubrey Devine. All I have to say is that Devine was any better than the Parkin who played against Yale he must have been thinking short of supernatural."

"I have also been informed that Parkin is a sophomore and the contest with Yale was his first big game. If this was his first big game, then I must predict that Parkin is one of the seven wonders of the world. If Parkin could only be used as a punter, and using this attribute as a threat, he could easily be classed as one of the greatest football players of the present generation."

"One of the very few criticisms that I could offer against Iowa's play was the punting. The criticism I have to make is merely against the style of punting. Minnick, the Iowa guard who did the kicking, had plenty of distance to his boots, but his kicks were far too low. In fact, so low that his ends were not able to cover his kicks in true football fashion. This fault allowed Yale's defensive backs to run back most every kick 60 per cent farther than they should have under other circumstances."

Iowa Was Well Coached
"Iowa was well coached in the

such a big offer that Pratt induced the Michigan people to permit him to resign and accept it. Pratt succeeded him and has had excellent success. Pratt is in the sporting goods business in Ann Arbor and making good. Incidentally he helps a bit in the football coaching. In his college days Pratt was a wonder on the gridiron.

Pratt says that he understands the deal to take him to Detroit has been completed. He is delighted with the opportunity to get with a team up in the race. While he hasn't been officially notified of the change he says that he has it on the best of authority that the one obstacle that held up the deal has been eliminated.

Pratt feels that the Tigers have a corking good team and a great chance to win. That, of course, is the one big reason he is so pleased with the trade. He rightly rates Blue as a wonder at first, says Rigney is the coming shortstop of the American League, figures Jones as good as any third sacker in the infield by performing capably at second.

Incidentally Pratt figures that Rip Collins, who is to go to Detroit in the deal, will be a great pitcher for Cobb. With a team that will get him a working margin of runs Collins, opines Pratt, is going to be a mighty hard man to beat in 1923.

BRUNNER HOPES TO WIN ALL-AMERICA BERTH

Many of the critics last year considered Lafayette the best team in the east. No member of the eleven played a more important part in winning such a position for Lafayette than Halfback Brunner.

Brunner is very fast, a fine open field runner, and a mighty hard man to tackle when he gets under way. He is a tower of strength to this year's Lafayette team, which bids fair to win as high a notch in the football world as did the 1912 aggregation.

Brunner is also a fine punter and does much of the kicking for Lafayette.

The Mind's Eye

Imagination is the eye of the mind, the power that calls up pictures of things not yet present, ideas not yet realized. Imagination precedes and is the cause of all achievement. First, the picture in the mind, then the realization.

So it is with that comfortable home you have always said you would have some day. Paint the picture strong enough in the mind's eye, then make your plans.

The future holds promise only for those who have a definite plan in their personal finances. Spending what you earn is living from hand to mouth. It is treading a vicious circle. Sickness or unemployment to the unprepared are calamities.

Saving systematically, however little it may be, means progress and means strength to resist misfortune, or brings comfortable substance for maturity and old age. # Industrial Harmony Promotes Better Service

LABOR controversies are productive of needless loss to employee, employer, and to the public. This basic fact has long been recognized by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) and is one reason why the Company has stressed the necessity of industrial harmony within the organization. It knows that through such harmony it can render the public a better service, and that by rendering such service the Company, its employees, and the public will profit.

In the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) every man earns his job; none inherits it. Every man has confidence in the knowledge and experience of his superior. Every employee knows that when he has earned promotion he will be advanced, for this is the time-honored policy of the Company, and, naturally, creates a spirit highly favorable to excellence of service.

Every member of the Board of Directors of this Company holds his position because of his experience and because he possesses specialized knowledge of the oil industry. From the Chairman of the Board to the man who fills your tank at a Standard Oil Service Station, every employee is inspired by a real desire to make the Company of the utmost service to the community.

Industrial harmony within the organization is the goal toward which the entire organization is striving. Every man and woman knows that such harmony works for happiness and contentment, promotes efficiency, and increases their power for service.

Industrial harmony means industrial progress. Industrial progress is made through co-operation, not through antagonism; through peace, not through controversy; through conservation, not through dissipation of energy.

Industrial harmony inevitably results in profit to the public by reducing the prices at which commodities may be sold. This is well exemplified in the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

The conditions obtaining in this organization are not accidental; they are largely the result of a sane, constructive program "which avoids the foolish waste of radical experiment, the costly breaches of economic law, the unhappy consequences of social injustice."

News of the Markets

VALUES HELD DOWN DURING EARLY SALES

(By the Associated Press)
Chicago, Oct. 31.—Scattered commission house selling together with lack of demand proved sufficient to hold down values in the wheat market today during the early dealings. Apparent shortage of export buying counted in particular as a bearish influence. The fact that the Liverpool quotations displayed no upward movement was also a subject of comment. Initial prices which ranged from 1 1/2 to 1 3/4, with December 1 1/2 to 1 3/4, and May 1 1/2 to 1 3/4, were followed by a slight rally and then a fresh decline. Expectation of enlarged receipts of corn acted as a weight both on corn and oats prices. After opening 1/2 to 3/4 off, December 65c to 66c, the corn market continued to sag. Oats started unchanged to 1/2 lower, December 41c to 41 1/2c and later descended a little all around. Provisions had a downward drift in response to lower hog values. Rain in the southwest increased world stocks and a further decline at Liverpool led to a material setback in prices here. The close was heavy 3/4 to 1 1/4 net lower, with December 1 1/2 to 1 3/4, and May 1 1/2 to 1 3/4.

WHEAT FIRM TO STRONG
(By the Associated Press)
Minneapolis, Oct. 31.—Taken on the average the market today was firm to strong and offerings of wheat of desirable quality were moderate. Durum wheat offerings were moderate and in good general demand at firm premiums. Montana winter wheat was scarce and in good demand. Corn prices were easy and there was no snap to the demand. Oats market a little slower in tone and prices barely steady compared with futures. Rye was slower but prices held about the same compared with futures. Barley was quiet and featureless with offerings smaller and demand indifferent. Flax premiums were quoted the same and demand was good on the average. Offerings fair.

NEWS OF WALL STREET

(By the Associated Press)
New York, Oct. 31.—Some irregularity started upward in response to a brisk demand for oil shares and a fairly good inquiry for steels, equipments, coppers and standard rails. Short covering prompted by the resistance met at today's opening levels was largely responsible for the upward trend. Mexican Petroleum advanced 2 1/2 points, Standard Oil of California 2, General Asphalt 1 1/2 and Standard Oil of New Jersey 1 1/2. United States Steel, common, moved up a point in anticipation of a favorable earnings statement following today's quarterly meeting of the board of directors, while Crucible pushed up 1 1/2 and Gulf States Steel 1/2. May Department Stores climbed 5 1/2 points. Adams Express and Virginia-Carolina Chemical, preferred, were the outstanding weak spots.

Early gains ranging from 1 to 4 points were largely cancelled later when heavy selling of Studebaker, which dropped more than 2 points turned prices downward again just before noon. May Department Stores, however, had extended its gain to 10 points before acute weakness set in throughout the list. Weakness also cropped out in a number of special issues, General American Tank Car declining 4 1/2 points. Call money opened at 5 percent.

Buying in the belief that technical conditions warranted a rally caused an upturn in prices in the early afternoon. Weakness, however, persisted in Studebaker and lower priced domestic oils which ultimately caused some recussions from the high levels in the strong stocks. Trading sentiment was considerably mixed one division holding to the view that prices were still too high and must necessarily undergo further readjustment while another group maintained that fundamental conditions were all in favor of a rise and that the short interest had pushed its operations too far.

The closing was weak. Prices on the whole list in the final hour slipping off rapidly in all directions. Operations of opposing speculative forces imparted a decidedly irregular trend to prices in today's market, most of the active shares again showing net losses on a renewal of heavy liquidation in final dealings. Speculators for the advance succeeded in staving off a sharp decline in a few special shares which apparently had been oversold, but these operations were

TO EXCAVATE IN WEST INDIES

Copenhagen, Oct. 27.—The remains of certain Indian tribes of the West Indies, who became extinct some 400 years ago, are to be excavated and studied by two European scientists. Already Dr. Edmund Hatt, inpector of the Danish national museum, and Professor I. P. B. de Josselin de Jong, of Holland, are on their way to Saint Thomas, Virgin Islands, to embark upon the work of digging for records of the habits and doings of this inextinct race.

The Virgin Islands and some of the West Indian islands of Great Britain and Holland will be visited. The tribe in question emigrated from South America, and was wiped out of existence by the Spaniards conquering during the two generations that followed the discovery of America.

By seismic movement in 1922 in Chile, more than 100,000 square miles along the coast were raised permanently from three to four feet.

The Japanese government telephone department recently installed telephones for 850 people who had made application for them in 1907.

Kaffirs habitually smoke cigars with the lighted ends in their mouths and their tongues adroitly tucked out of harm's way.

The common house centipede destroys house flies in considerable numbers.

YOUNG SPEAKS AT DAWSON

Congressman Appeals For O'Connor-Nestos Ticket

At the first really big I. V. A. meeting ever held at Dawson, Kidder county, Congressman Young, who was the speaker of the evening, declared: "I am here to fight for the election of the entire O'Connor-Nestos ticket. I have returned from Washington to join my Independent colleagues and friends in this campaign to overthrow the uneconomic and discredited Nonpartisan League and give the Nestos administration a legislature that will work in harmony and something worth while will be accomplished."

In the course of his talk Congressman Young also disclosed that he was himself one of the beneficiaries of the better market furnished for the sale of hail warrants he said he had received ninety-eight and a half cents on the dollar for his warrant of sixteen hundred dollars as against eighty cents on the dollar, the best price he had been offered under the former state administration. He said that the Frazier-Lemke group had sought to minimize and belittle this splendid service to the holders of hail warrants and that they had claimed that hail warrants had simply advanced along with U. S. Liberty Bonds. Young said this was an unworthy attempt to rob the Nestos administration of the credit which was so well earned. He said he went to the U. S. treasury and found that upon the day he sold his hail warrant at ninety-eight and a half cent on the dollar United States Liberty Bonds were selling at eighty-six cents on the dollar.

MOTHER ROBS CLOTHES LINE

Child's Desire to Win Reward Causes of Discovery

Minneapolis, Oct. 31.—Struggling to feed four children, a mother who resorted to thievery, raiding a neighbor's clothes line of $100 in silks, linens and garments, was betrayed by her son, aged 12, who wanted to win a $5 reward offered for a clue which would lead to the arrest of the thief.

When Mrs. J. N. Jellison's clothes line was raided Sunday and a large quantity of expensive silks and linens stolen, she offered a reward of $5.00 for information of the thief.

Yesterday, while Mrs. Nelson was away, her son, Morris, aged 14, was confronted by a grimy faced fearful youngster.

"Say," the mourner said, I get that $5."

"How's that?" Morris asked.

"I know where your mother's clothes are. Ma's got 'em."

Morris told his mother, who summoned a patrolman and went with him to the neighbor's home where most of the missing finery was recovered, Mrs. Nelson said. Some of the silks had been cut up to be sewn into garments.

The mother's pitiful story deferred her arrest.

HUDSON WILL BUILD A NEW "SUPER SEDAN"

A new seven-passenger sedan, containing all the recent Hudson improvements of body and motor design, including the new Super-Six motor, and several additional new features, is announced by the Hudson Motor Car Company. Dealers in practically all parts of the country are already displaying it. The new sedan is being produced in strict conformity with Hudson details of fine manufacturing precision. Its price is $2295, f. o. b. Detroit.

Several changes have been made in the body as compared with the previous sedan, according to R. B. Loubek of the R. B. Loubek Motor Co., local Hudson-Exess dealer. The new model is three inches longer, is lower and of lighter weight. Both front and rear seats are wider. All body panels are aluminum.

The increased length has been given to both the front and rear compartments, especially between the rear and auxiliary seats. Additional space has been given the driver, and the front seat, designed along the general lines of the touring limousine, makes the driver's position even more restful than heretofore. The contour of all other seats has likewise been changed to afford greater comfort. The rear seat is deeper. Even better ventilation than on previous models is provided for by a larger cowl ventilator, equipped with a deflector. The rear window glass is also larger. The triangular panes of glass which form part of the windshield add to the distinctiveness and, together with the wider door glass, afford the driver a greater range of vision.
